No record. No film. No scouting report.

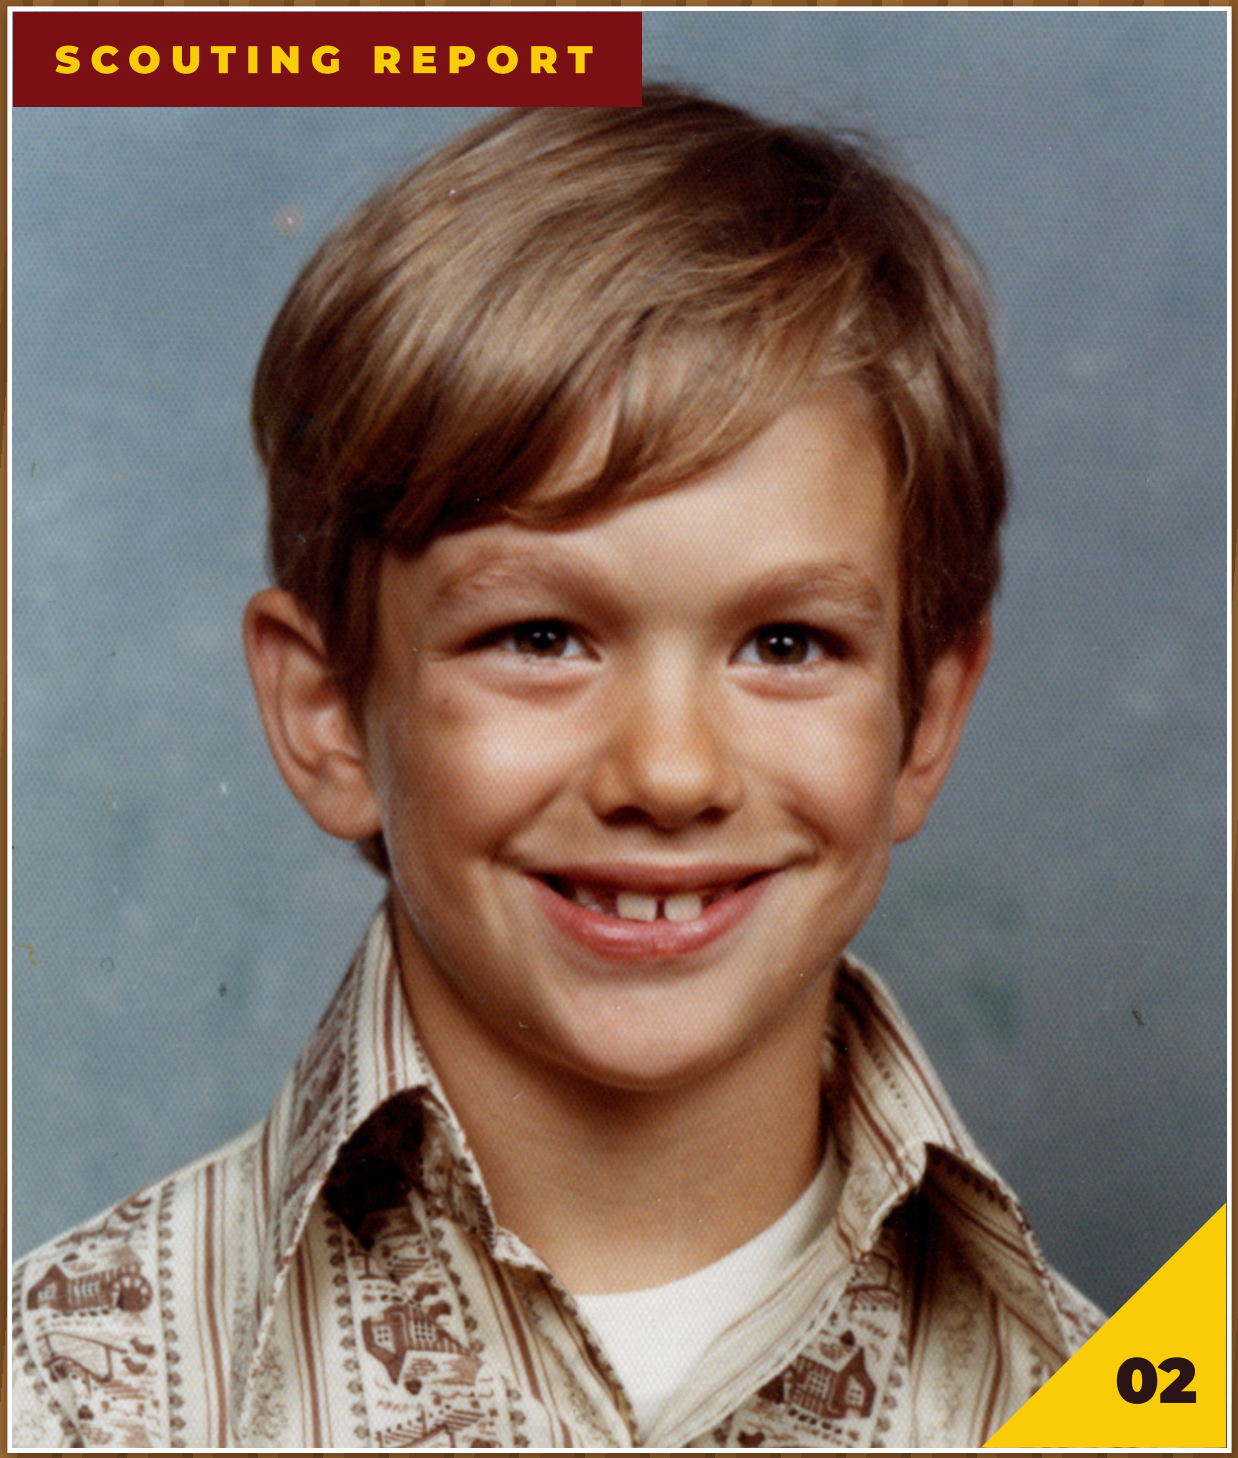

Before anyone had a reason to, somebody believed in him. That's what this scholarship does for the next Batavia kid, for college, trade school or an apprenticeship. Every year, for good.

Thank you for giving.

You're holding the first of ten. Scan to see the whole set.

SCOUT'S NOTES: High motor. Coachable. Natural leader. Other kids listen to him, which is either a gift or a discipline problem depending on the day.

PROJECTION: Teacher. Coach. Both, probably. Will spend decades giving other people's kids the thing he got.

The projection was right.

Batavia. 1980 to ’83. A receiver wearing 89.

This is the hinge of the set. On this card he’s a Batavia kid being coached. On every card after it, he’s the one doing the coaching, and eventually the teaching, which turned out to be the same job with different equipment.

Friday nights, arms crossed, on the Bulldog sideline.

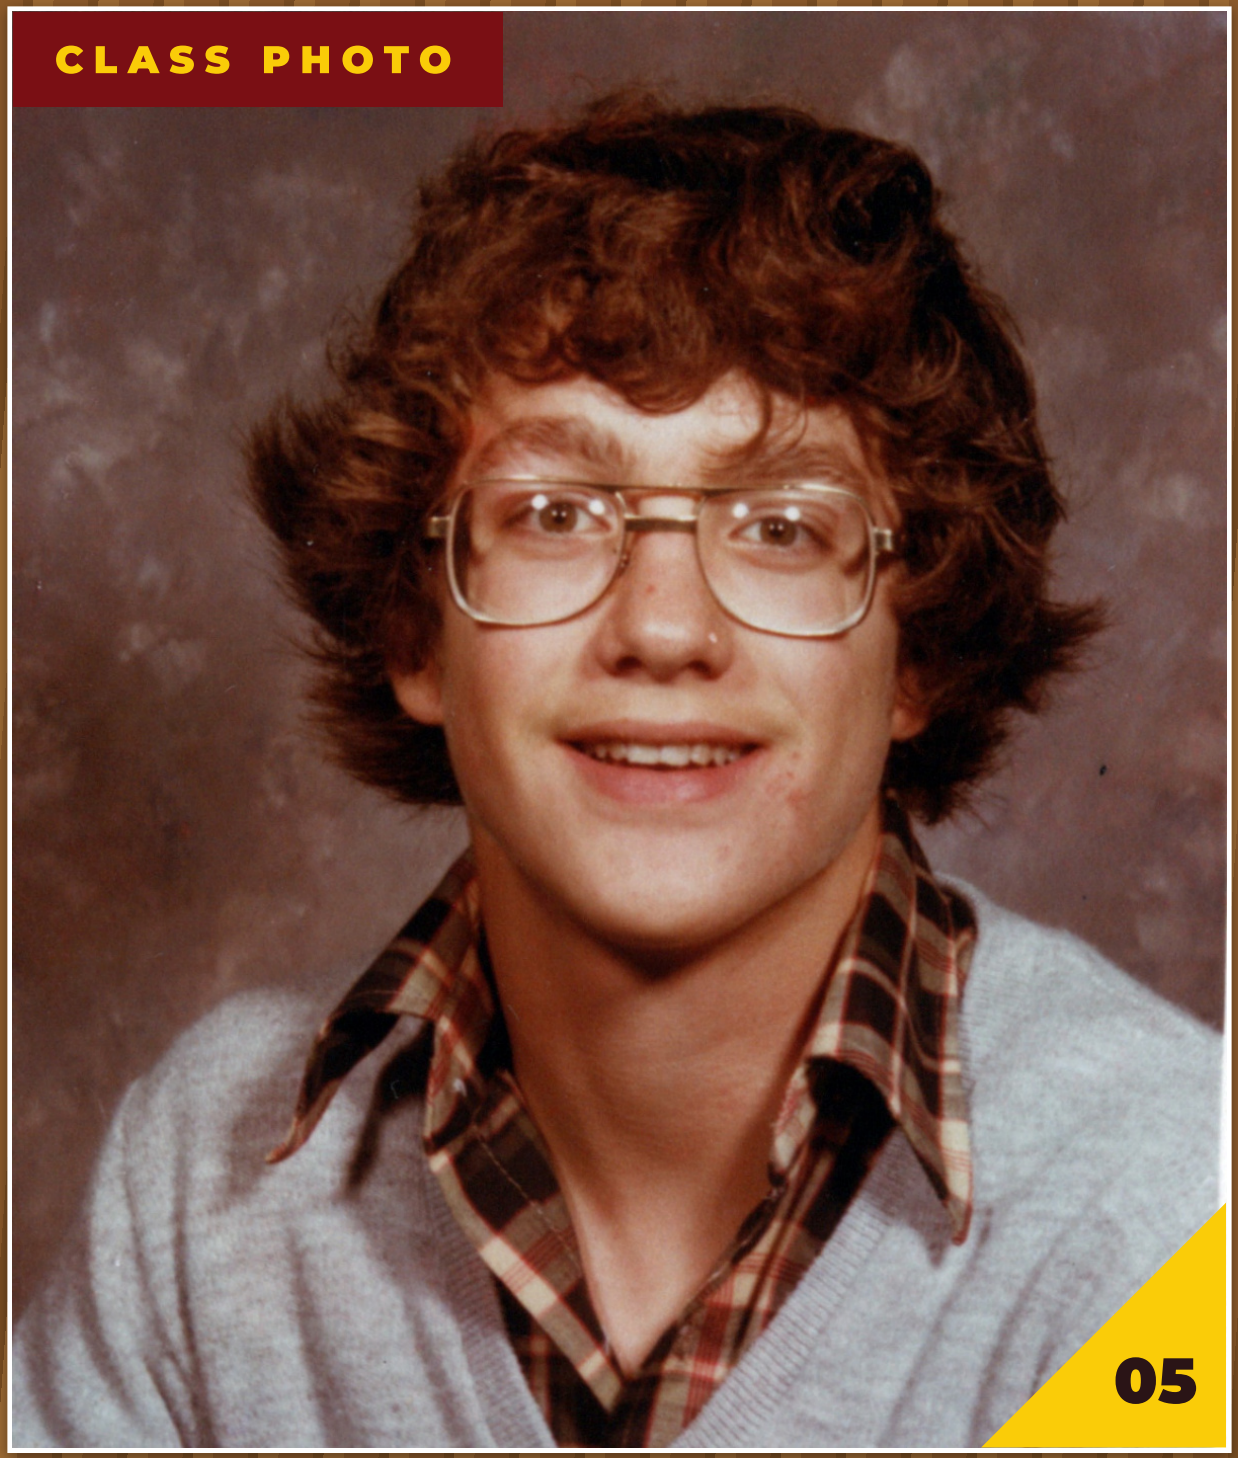

Dennis retired from teaching in 2026. What ended was the classroom, and that is exactly what this scholarship carries on: the next Batavia senior, funded every single year, permanently.

Scan it. Give.

The Dunham Foundation doubles the first $50,000, dollar for dollar.

Before the headset, the whistle and all those Friday nights, there was picture day.

Big frames. Bigger hair. A Batavia kid with no idea he'd spend his life on the other side of the desk, making sure the next kid in that chair had someone in their corner.

Went to school with him?

Nobody asked him to throw it. He threw it anyway, in front of teenagers with younger arms and better knees, in sunglasses, at full commitment.

Every player he ever coached has seen this exact face.

Played for him? Then you know.

Grinning, finger out, “100” across his chest. He isn’t pointing at himself. He never was.

When he walked out of the classroom in 2026, a group of us decided that shouldn’t be the end of it. So we’re making it permanent.

This is the card that isn't a joke.

Ask anyone who came through his classroom or his program what Piron did for them, and you won't get a short answer. You'll get a specific one. Nearly 700 students have a version of that story.

Add the next one.

The next Batavia senior, every year, for good.

In his class, teenagers built real companies. In 2026 a student team built The Windmill Weekly, a large-type newspaper for care-center residents, because a grandmother missed her paper.

“What good people children are. Given the opportunity to serve… how willing they are to do it.” — Dennis Piron

Endowed means the fund is never spent. It's invested, and what it earns pays Batavia High School scholarships for college, trade school or an apprenticeship: this year, next year, and in a year when nobody reading this is still on the committee.

The Dunham Foundation matches the community's first $50,000, released once that $50,000 is received.

That's the whole set.
